

For release
21 May 2007

Indatatech named United Space Alliance SDVOB Supplier of the Year

San Antonio, Texas – 21 May 2007 – Indatatech today announced

Indatatech has been selected as the award recipient of the 2006 Service-Connected Disabled Veteran Owned Business Supplier of the Year by United Space Alliance.

This is a formidable task as USA is fortunate to have an extremely strong and supportive supplier base. Superior Companies are chosen to compete in the following categories: Small Business, Small Disadvantaged Business, Woman-Owned Business, Large Business, Veteran-Owned Business, HUB Zone and Service-Connected Disabled Veteran Owned Business

“Of all our accomplishments, this one means so much to us”, said Bede Ramcharan, President and CEO of indatatech. “Not only is this a recognition of the hard work and dedication we put behind supporting the Return to Flight Program, but on a personal level, it recognizes my service during my career in the Army.” said Ramcharan.

Indatatech a full service management and consulting company specializing in Fixed Asset and Supply Chain Management and assists USA in specialized procurement and stringent quality assurance inspection requirements for a variety of categories of items that goes up in flight. Indatatech assists USA in specialized purchasing to meet the strictest timely requirements, with extremely specified required grades of quality product in order to meet the demands in supporting the crew in the return to flight program. Indatatech has offices in San Antonio and Houston.

#####

All product and company names herein may be trademarks of their respective owners.

Contact information (press members only):

Christina Fierro
866.802.3282
cfierro@indatatech.com